

Application to Survey Members of The Industrial Research Institute

The Industrial Research Institute (IRI) is committed to furthering the management of industrial research and the development of related best practices. To that end, IRI recognizes the occasional need to survey our membership for the purposes of identifying current practices. In order to balance this need with the time constraints and needs of our members, member surveys must be approved by the IRI Executive Committee. Unless specifically approved by exception, the surveys will be distributed to IRI members by IRI staff – investigators will not be given direct access to IRI members.

By completing this application, applicants agree to the following terms and conditions:

- Full attribution to the cooperation of IRI will be incorporated into all reports, presentations or publications derived wholly or in part from these data.
- The development of a conference, symposium or other educational forum based primarily on the survey or its research question must have prior approval by the President of IRI.
- A paper based upon survey results must be submitted to Research-Technology Management (RTM) before being submitted to another journal. The investigators are free to submit other papers to other journals after a paper has been submitted to RTM.
- IRI will be provided a report of the complete survey results for use as it sees fit.

Survey applications are reviewed four times a year. The deadlines are:
